

Option 1

This flyer features large images to grab the reader's attention. A person on the front cover taps into the demographic The Enterprise Center is reaching out to. A testimonial at the bottom personalizes the flyer and gives a message about how The Enterprise Center's programs help businesses. On the inside, text flows over color blocks on top of images as well as on open space.

Option 2

This flyer includes photos that span the width of the page, with bold text over it. There are also text boxes shaped with a wave that can show a featured event. There is plenty of room for events, along with large photos.

Option 3

This flyer is a grid format. The wave is horizontal across the header and footer, but otherwise the layout is geometrical. The text would be on top of brightly colored boxes, and images would be mixed in. This layout is 3 columned, but the heights of boxes can vary. On the right is a similar version with more white space given in between items as well as behind text. Bright boxes will help highlight the events and make the flyer colorful overall.
